8 Art Exhibits To Check Out In March

From the portrait series "Depicting the Invisible"

Army and Navy Club

SUSAN J. BARRON: DEPICTING THE INVISIBLE: A PORTRAIT SERIES OF VETERANS SUFFERING FROM PTSD @ THE ARMY AND NAVY CLUB

The Army and Navy Club is normally open to members only, but the organization opens its doors to the public on Saturdays to share Susan J. Barron's photographs of veterans suffering from PTSD. Barron's larger-than-life black & white photos are hand-painted with the subjects' stories in their own words. Also on view is an interactive station where visitors are invited to create a personal tribute to a fallen soldier.

Through April 13 at The Army and Navy Club. Open to the public on Saturdays from 11 a.m.-2 p.m. The Club's dress code requires a coat and tie for men and comparable attire for women.
